The Guidelines of the Australian Resuscitation Council are copyright, however no objection will be taken to any of them being printed without written permission provided that such printing does not exceed 10% of the manual.

The Guidelines should be read as referring to males or females in all cases.

The Guidelines represent the consensus of opinion of representatives of the constituent bodies of the Australian Resuscitation Council, based on their clinical experience and evaluation of scientific literature. They are of general application, and may not be relevant to particular circumstances or situations. Specific advice should be obtained in relation to individual circumstances or situations. Neither the Council, nor its officers or members accept responsibility to any other person on any grounds, or for events or circumstances which may occur as a result of the implementation or non-implementation of these policies.
